

Introduction

OneAscent Family Office LLC (“OneAscent” or “OAFO”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment adviser. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

OneAscent Family Office, LLC (“OAFO”) provides investment advisory services and family office services to retail investors and their professional advisors through the offering of managed accounts, proprietary strategies, and assistance to other investment advisors. OAFO does not have a specified minimum account size. Some clients who wish to access multiple asset management styles, specifically third party managers, may be required to have an account minimum. Please refer to the Form ADV Part 2A for more information regarding these services.

Asset Management

Asset management services may be provided on either a “discretionary” or “non-discretionary” basis. When a client engages the firm to provide asset management services on a discretionary basis, we will monitor your accounts to ensure that they are meeting your investment objectives. If any changes are needed to your investments, we will make the changes. These changes may involve selling a security or group of investments and buying others, utilizing a separate account (third party) manager, or keeping the proceeds in cash. You may at any time place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments we may use on your behalf, or on the allocations to each security type, though such restrictions may limit the potential performance of your portfolio.

Financial Planning

In most cases, the client will supply an OAFO representative with information regarding current financial circumstances and goals. The information is typically provided during personal interviews and supplemented with written information. Once the information is received, we will discuss your financial needs and goals with you and compare your current financial situation with the goals you state. Once these are compared, we will create a financial and/or investment plan to help you meet your goals, and work with you to educate you about household finances and investments. For more information, please refer to our Disclosure Brochure, the ADV Part 2A, under Item 4 Advisory Business by Clicking Here.

What fees will I pay?*Unified Managed Accounts

Generally, fees may vary from 0.50% to 2.00% per annum of the market value of a client’s assets in the UMA. The Overlay Manager (Adhesion) and third party manager charge separate and additional fees with respect to client accounts for account model and administration. Portions of these fees are paid directly to OAIS. In addition, the client will be billed by OAFO for the advisory fee. Fees are negotiable, based on the nature of the account. Factors affecting fee percentages include the size of the account, complexity of asset structures, and other factors.

Asset Management for Non-UMA Clients

Generally, fees may vary from 0.50% to 2.00% per annum of the market value of a client’s assets managed by OneAscent. In limited circumstances, asset management may also be done on a flat fee basis. Flat fees will be between $1,000 and $100,000 per annum. The advisory fee is paid on a quarterly basis, in advance, with adjustments made for deposits and withdrawals greater than $25,000 intra-quarter.

Financial Planning

Financial planning fees can be hourly, fixed fee (which may be per project or per month) or included with asset management services. Our hourly charge is between $125 and $500 per hour, depending on the professional working on the project. Fixed fees will typically be between $0 and $15,000, and in special circumstances, can be greater than $100,000. Fees are negotiable and will depend on the anticipated complexity of your plan and the professional(s) working on the plan.

Other Fees

Clients will also incur other direct and indirect fees in addition to OneAscent’s fees. For example, mutual funds contain fees and expenses as described in the prospectus such as management fees. Additionally, a client will pay transaction fees for the purchase and sale of securities as well as custodial fees for maintaining an account at the custodian. Third party managers will also charge fees for their services. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. A conflict of interest exists where OneAscent has an incentive to encourage you to place more assets under management with them as they will receive more compensation from advisory fees. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying. For more specific information regarding our fees, please refer our Disclosure Brochure, the ADV Part 2A under Item 5 Fees and Compensation by Clicking Here.

“Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?”

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we must act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means: Certain owners of OneAscent are also owners of OAIS. When a OneAscent advisor allocates client assets to a separate manager, including an affiliated manager such as OAIS, fees payable to such managers are separate from, and in addition to, fees payable to OneAscent. This means that the overall fees to OneAscent and these managers may be significantly higher than if OneAscent had managed the assets directly. OneAscent will consider these fees in its decision to recommend the use of any third party manager, including OAIS. OneAscent has a conflict of interest because OneAscent has the incentive to refer clients to OAIS, because of common ownership, and therefore are likely to receive greater overall compensation if assets are allocated to their respective affiliated firms as opposed to a different third party manager or in-house management. Harry Pearson, the owner of OAFO, is also an indirect owner of OneAscent Financial Services LLC ("OAFS"). OAFS provides investment advice to clients but does not perform investment advisory services for OAFO. It does, however, provide back office services to OneAscent. "Back office" services include compliance, trading and trade reconciliation, billing, marketing, technology, and business continuity. In addition, the E&O insurance for OneAscent is purchased through OAFS. OAIS is the manager to funds registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Registered Funds"). It is expected that OAFO will recommend that clients whose investment objectives are appropriate to invest in such Registered Funds. This creates a conflict of interest, which may be material. Because OAIS receives a fee from the Registered Funds, and a fee from the clients whose assets are managed in the strategies that included each Registered Fund (or the client's portfolio containing the Registered Fund directly), OAFO has an incentive to recommend Registered Funds to clients because of the potential for an increased fee, as opposed to simply the client's objectives.

In addition to the possibility of allocating assets to OAIS, OAFO may also allocate assets to OneAscent Capital LLC ("OAC"). OAC is the manager of certain private placements. The terms of investment of these private placements are found in each vehicle offering documents. Any allocation of assets to OAC entities will be done on a non-discretionary basis. Nonetheless, a conflict of interest exists when recommending an OAC investment, because, like OAIS and OAFO, the principal owners of OAC are the same as OAFO. This means that OAFO has the incentive to refer clients to OAC, because of common ownership, and therefore are likely to receive greater overall compensation if assets are allocated to OAC as opposed to a different private placement or even no private placement at all.

Please see more information regarding these conflicts in the Form ADV Part 2A, Item 10, by clicking here.

Certain professionals of OneAscent are separately licensed as independent insurance agents. As such, these professionals may conduct insurance product transactions for OneAscent clients, in their capacity as licensed insurance agents, and will receive customary commissions for these transactions in addition to any compensation received in this capacity as employees of OneAscent. These professionals therefore have incentive to recommend insurance products based on the compensation to be received, rather than on a client's needs. Clients should be aware of this conflict when considering whether to engage OneAscent or utilize these professionals to implement any insurance recommendations.
